Dottie Walters from Speakers Magazine says,

The information Michele gave to our readers was remarkable. Her experience as a Speaker and Singer throughout her life is truly amazing. She shared how to handle any audience with confidence, passion, and purpose. Michele's energy is limitless. Also, her products are worth more than all the cups of coffee in the world.

Cindy Lybbert from the Healing the Wounds Summit says,

I could listen to Michele talk every day, all day :) She certainly had her trials of wounds and amazingly healed them through music and affirmation. WOW! What a walking, living testimonial she is! I love her, her presence, her music and products, the time she takes to helping others all over the world, ...and mostly her spirit, prayers, work, smile, everything, ...what a beautiful sister. I love her work, she has changed my life and I feel blessed having her in my life. I would encourage everyone to check her website out and the wonderful products she has to offer. Best of all are her live zoom calls, fabulous connecting with her and seeing people all over the world come into a room of such high vibration and love. Blessings to you Michele and all you do, you are a great example to me.

Allison Jackson from the Fit To Lead podcast says,

Michele was a guest on my Fit to Lead podcast a few months ago and I thoroughly enjoyed my interview with her. She is so passionate and full of good energy! It made our conversation so engaging and free flowing. You can immediately tell that Michele is such a caring and giving person. She was a pure delight to feature on my show and I'd welcome the opportunity to collaborate with her again in the future.

Jamie Molnar from the Be Your Best Self podcast says,

It was an absolute joy having Michele on my podcast. She was professional, full of energy and light, and provided so much quality information for my audience. I am so glad to be connected with her and would highly recommend her for your podcast too!

Walt Thiessen from the Your Daily Dose of Happy podcast says,

We had Michele on the LOA Today podcast back in August 2021, and it was a wonderful visit. She is such a happy, high vibe person to interview, and her story of being hospitalized after a terrible accident and turning it into her unexpected discovery of the power of affirmations when produced in song form is quite inspiring. To make matters even more fun, I got an email from her today exactly one day after I mentioned her during yesterday's recording of another episode of my podcast. Who says the Law of Attraction is a bunch of woo-woo nonsense? Not me, that's for sure!

Sharón Lynn Wyeth from the Know the Name; Know the Answers podcast says,

Michele is an awesome guest and one that viewers requested for us to have back again and again. She is both knowledgeable and entertaining and the conversation flows easily. Do you want an exciting and informative show? Have Michele join you!

John Racine from The Total Freedom Podcast says,

I had the distinct honor of having Michele on my Total Freedom Podcast and her appearance was beyond my expectations. She was captivating, inquisitive and incredibly inspiring which is reflective of what I was looking for on my podcast. Making an impression would undersell what she provided to my audience and impacted positively not just my audience, but also myself as a podcast host.

Gloria Grace Rand from the Live. Love. Engage. Podcast says,

Michele is a true professional, talented speaker and singer, and terrific podcast guest. She made my job as an interviewer easy because she was engaging, enthusiastic, and educational. She gave our listeners actionable tips, and she has a wonderful sense of humor too. I would invite her back on my show anytime.

Michele Blood was a guest on my now world-renowned radio show The Sudden-I-Impact Show that reaches an estimated 300,000 listeners per month via live shows, replays, and downloads. The vision, mission, and purpose of the show is to encourage everyday people to tap into their latent resources dormant within them and having Michele Blood on was ideal because she shared her story of struggle and great triumph and shared some of her uncanny gifts of singing and speaking experiential knowledge and uncanny wisdom filling the audiences' cups into overflow!

Tianna Roser from the Beyond The Illusion podcast says,

Brian Tracy, A World Authority On Self-Development says,

My experience with Michele's material is that it works almost instantly. You will notice an immediate change in the way that you think and feel. You will notice an immediate change in the way you act, and react, and respond. It activates your reticular cortex. You begin to see possibilities that you hadn't seen before, and you may even see results within twenty-four hours. Many people do. Well, what she's done is she's been able to infuse the most important messages of success together with music. She's been able to infuse them with music so that they actively go in and affect the subconscious mind and bring about permanent behavior change. And that's the critical thing in success and achievement.
